The Captains' Hideout provides a VIP area for captains and their crew to network and relax away from the show and a meeting place away from the public for their important contacts. They are offered free breakfast and lunch plus an open bar and free high-speed internet access. Each Captains' Hideout kicks off with an evening happy hour the night before the start of the show.

Sponsors have a unique opportunity to meet face to face with captains and crew, for the duration of the two biggest superyacht shows in the world, the Monaco Yacht Show and the Fort Lauderdale International Boat Show.

The Captains' Hideout provides the perfect opportunity for sponsors to meet captains and senior crew in a non pressure environment.

CAPTAINS' HIDEOUT TESTIMONIALS

“The way it was organized was great. The venue is delicate and cozy, and clearly attracts ‘the right people’. This event was a quality happening with plenty of decision makers from many vessels. The feedback we have received from our visitors was exceptionally positive!” Isabelle Rossnes, Scandinavian Bunkering AS

“We had a great experience and feel it targeted the market we are looking for. Everything was so well organised, so well done for all your hard work’.

DOCKWALK CREW PARTY'S

Dockwalk hosts yearly captain and crew events in major yachting hot spots around the world. In 2010, the Dockwalk Party was re-introduced to drive brand awareness for Dockwalk.com amongst the captain and crew community. Today, Dockwalk invites superyacht captains and crew to register on Dockwalk.com to attend Dockwalk events, where they can mingle with fellow crew.

Sponsoring a Dockwalk party enables advertisers to target a specific group of decision makers in the captain and crew market; sponsors can focus on a specific geographic area or a particular position within the crew community. Sponsorship offers advertisers an opportunity to meet and interact with crew face to face, reinforcing your marketing message by giving something back to this vital community
